

Green ZIP Tape Endorsements

“Mr. Little’s wall system creates demountable partition that has no visible seam. It simply requires the drywall contractor to use a very strong special joint tape that is specially manufactured to be strong enough, that when pulled up it also removes the joint compound after it has been fully cured which exposes the screws (and) allows the drywall to be demounted and relocated.”

Al Younkin, Senior Project Manager, HOK Architecture

“...We have a responsibility to our clients to provide state of the art products that are cost effective and lend themselves to green building... one rarely sees innovations in tried and true systems such as drywall. The Green-Zip Tape Partition system provides several innovations which make us proud to install the Green-Zip Tape Partition system.”

Intertec Construction, Inc.

“We recently built our new 50,000 SF headquarters building and used the Green-Zip Partition System everywhere. It saves time, money, and lends itself to the green environment that is helping our industry do its part for sustainability. To me it’s a simple solution and one everyone should take advantage of! The financial benefit is consistent with the projections we received and is significant.”

Marek Construction

“I understand that Green Zip is focused on supporting sustainable architecture and is targeting LEED accreditation (which is a specialty of HKS). Green Zip not only contributes to the environmental benefits by encouraging the reuse elements (which is preferred over recycling). It also helps keep gypsum board out of landfills which is important because gypsum drywall when placed in a landfill becomes extremely toxic.”

Tom Amis, HKS Architects and Designers

“As a regional VP/Division Manager at Brasfield & Gorrie, I am responsible for vetting and introducing innovations in the commercial construction industry to our clients. Recently, we were asked by one of our hospitality clients to vet a drywall innovation called Green-Zip, a patented process and that allows the disassembly of interior drywall partitions... the use of Green-Zip can create a significant financial benefit. We were so impressed with Green-Zip, we used it [in] our new Dallas office... and plan to recommend Green-Zip to our clients.”
